PROJECTS

Sinus Symptom Relief Medical Device

A non-invasive wearable device that provides sinusitis symptom relief using Acoustic Resonance Therapy. The system delivers controlled vibration patterns to ease congestion and pressure, while a mobile app enables Bluetooth-based control, facial scan calibration, and personalized therapy sessions. The analysis dashboard tracks user feedback before and after each session.

Tech Stack: Flutter, Dart, Firebase cloud

AI-Powered ECG Analysis Dashboard

Developed a web-based system for real-time ECG data visualization and arrhythmia detection using a custom Transformer model trained on PTB-XL (44 arrhythmia classes). Features include patient record management, dynamic ECG waveform viewer with zoom/calibration, automated PDF report generation with heart-rate stats, and integration with email for alerts and exports.

Tech Stack: Python 3.12, ECGTransformer2Lead (AI Model), React.js, CSS, FPDF, Pandas, NumPy, Matplotlib

Image based Classification of Malware using Deep Learning

This project provides a facility to use malicious code and convert it into images and then classify them into respective classes of malware. This project uses CNN algorithm and Deep learning libraries to classify malware.

Tech Stack: Python 3.7 with Sklearn, NumPy, Seaborn, Keras, Deep Learning
